Subject : Inclusion of new points in the new syllabus of B.A. Third Year English and English Literature.

Honorable Sir,

We are Vaibhav D. Khiratkar and Nilesh P. Masalkar. We are learning in B.A. Third Year in Lokmanya Mahavidyalaya, Warora, Dist - Chandrapur.

While studying in Third Year, we expected the study of 'e-mail' and 'common-
-errors' in English. But when we actually saw the syllabus, we didn't find these topics in it. Moreover, we expected one of the plays in the syllabus of B.A. Third Year English Literature by our Indian playwrights like Vijay Tendulkar, Girish Karnad etc. But we had to study Shakespeare in both the semesters. In addition, we will not feel wonder, if innovative practices like group discussion, debates etc. be included in the syllabus of English compulsory.

① E-mail : It is important to learn formally to write e-mail and give reply to e-mail. We heard that it has more weightage in the new NAAC process.

② Common Errors: We students learn English, but we commit many mistakes. We cannot understand them. We think we are right. But actually we are grammatically wrong. Moreover, Third Year is the last chance in the lives of many students to learn more and more about English. So we expect the inclusion of German - erosion in the syllabus of B.A. Third Year.

③ Innovative Practices: In many of the colleges, the innovative practices like debate, group discussion are not arranged. But we think, any language can be learnt only in the situations. So at the time of debate etc. students become integrated (connected) with the process. They learn to think in English.

④ Indian Drama: In English literature of B.A. Third Year, we studied two plays by Shakespeare, one by G.B. Shaw and by Anton Chekhov. But we think, we will understand an Indian play better than a foreign. So it could be easy for us to express ourselves in English.

So we humbly appeal to the authority to consider our thoughts, emotions and experiences expressed in this letter. We will not be able to study these things.

syllabus designing for B. A. III

Sir,

I, here, submit some topics in response to your appeal on GETA whats app group for suggestions to design the syllabus for B. A. III year.

As I have already received a letter from the students of B. A. III of last year with suggestions regarding the inclusion of some topics in the new syllabus, I forward the same to you.

I have also attached the letter herewith the mail.

The topics I wish to include in the syllabus are:

1. How to avoid common errors,
2. How to write and respond an e-mail,
3. Any of the Indian drama (for literature),
4. Activities for practice like group discussion, debate etc. and
5. How to face an interview.

I am also grateful to you and the BoS (English) for asking for suggestions from the academics.

Thank you very much sir

Sincerely yours

Shrikant N. Puri

It's my pleasure to receive such nice and useful suggestions, sir. We already got the letter from your students and was discussed in the meeting of BoS, and we decided to introduce some of their suggestions. Even in literature, we included dramas by Indian dramatists.

The framing of Syllabus for Communicative English as per the directions from the University is going on; we will submit it to the University on coming Tuesday. Hope, the fraternity will find it useful and all will welcome the move.

Regards
